

Hon. W. V. Coody, Candidate For Sheriff of Yazoo County

To the People of Yazoo County: I have not made an active canvass for the office of Sheriff, because my public duties have been in the way of my doing this, and I do not believe that an of honest manhood, useful citizenship, and a clear-headed public career.

The issue is clean cut; the county is entitled to the best its public servants can give. It is not a time to indulge in appeals to cheap politics and personal prejudices, and I am willing to plant my candidacy squarely upon the fundamental and practical considerations which alone should enter into the question.

The office of Sheriff embraces a greater variety of duties, and a wider range of responsibilities than is generally realized. It is largely administrative as well as intricately clerical, and more than any other department is brought into daily contact and joint co-operation with every other branch of public service of the county.

My administration of the office of Supervisor is an open book. I do not claim to be without mistakes, but I submit it with a clear conscience, and in thus calling attention to my official career, I do so in the humble belief that a record of loyal and industrious performance of duty will not bar me from the hope of further usefulness to my county.

Respectfully,

W. V. COODY.

SOME OF THE CAUSES THAT MAKE LIVING COST HIGH

Millions Spent To Gratify Habits That Are Injurious As Well As Expensive.

Eighty-eight million gallons of whiskey were made in the United States last year.

Who drank it all?

Fifteen billion cigarettes were manufactured in the United States last year. Who smoked them all?

Thirty-two million pounds of snuff were manufactured in the United States last year. Who did the sneezing?

Two hundred and twenty million pounds of smoking tobacco were made in the United States last year. Who had all the pipe dreams?

Eight and a half billion cigars were made in the United States last year. Who made all the smoke?

Half a billion packages of chewing gum were manufactured last year in the United States. Who worked their jaws?

Twenty thousand moving picture theatres paid $25,000,000 for films last year and 111,000,000 persons saw the moving pictures.

Where did they get all the dimes and nickels?

Ten billion copies of newspapers were printed in the United States last year. Who took time to read them?

One hundred and seventy thousand clergymen preached in two hundred and twenty thousand churches last year, and the congregations of all denominations, numbered twenty million. Who went to church?

EVERY WORD A DIAMOND

From The Lips of the Pathfinder.

"You may take it from us that neither this world nor this country is going to the dogs. There are conditions which need remedying, and they will be gradually remedied. Progress cannot be forced to any great extent. The only people who think that everything can be reformed all at once, by adopting their nostrum, are the ones who have no adequate conception of the difficulties involved.

You know how hard it is to reform your own self or to secure ideal conditions in your own family. Consider, then, how infinitely harder it is to reform a city, or a state, or a country, or a whole world.

A given reformer might be able to make things over and to better them, if the whole power were placed in his hands. He might possibly improve upon the plans of the Almighty, but as a matter of fact, mankind are not going to put themselves in the hands of that reformer. Many men are of many minds, and it is practically impossible to get society to coincide on any radical change.

The world is improving and it is all right. Millennial conditions are still far off, and practical people do not look for them. Man's progress onward and upward is long and slow. Every advance has to be won by him as the result of patience and self-mastery. Perfection cannot be put on ready-made like a suit of hand-me-down clothes; it is a growth.

More work and less talk is what the country now needs. There are good times ahead. Prosperity is in store for us, and it will come just as fast as we earn it. People all over the world are doing a lot of hard thinking, and plain living, and this is going to bear fruit. Things will settle down before long; the war will soon be over and the present chaos in business and politics will be reduced to order. Then there will be a long period of prosperity and progress.

The world is now in a transition state; it is moving forward to new positions and we must expect some confusion. The process cannot be arbitrarily hurried; we must have patience. But, accept our assurance that things will come out right; keep your eye on the long distance goal, and don't be diverted by "spiciers" and "barkers" who seek to draw you off.

Vote For Hon. Robert Wilson, of Hinds County, For State Auditor

Mr. Wilson is a Splendid Citizen and His Competency is Conceded Everywhere

As Clerk of the House of Representatives, Secretary of the Constitution, which brought peace and tranquility to Mississippi, and Registrar of the United States Land Office, Robert E. Wilson made good.

Mr. Wilson has not held or sought office, elective or appointive, since he retired from the office of Registrar. He resigned the Clerkship of the House to accept the office of Registrar, to which he was appointed by Cleveland, on the joint recommendation of those noble Mississippians, SENATORS GEORGE AND WALTHALL, both of whom knew Mr. Wilson intimately, extolled him for his exalted worth, and recognized his eminent fitness for responsible official trust.

Mr. Wilson is in the prime of matured manhood, and capable of fine service. This is the first time he ever appeared before the people, soliciting their votes. If elected, and Mr. Wilson's friends everywhere are confident that he will be, he will not seek to become deputy auditor, nor to remain in the Auditor's office in any other capacity.

Robert E. Wilson will be grateful to the good people of Yazoo, as he will to the people of the other Counties of the commonwealth, for their generous support on August 3, 1915. And he begs to assure them that they will never have cause to regret such support.

Put a cross opposite the name of Robert E. Wilson when you vote for State Auditor.

GREAT IS MISSISSIPPI

Mississippi is a grand old State, great in its achievements and historic incidents; but grander and greater still in the progress it has made during the past few years.

Mississippi is no longer an agriculturally one-sided State; her farmers have awakened to the fact that there are other things that can be profitably grown beside cotton, and they are growing them.

Corn, oats, peas, potatoes, wheat, hay, sugar cane, rice and other cereals are now to be seen upon almost every Mississippi farm, while fat hogs and sleek cattle abound in plentiful quantities.

The Department of Agriculture predicts for Mississippi this year one of its most profitable seasons. Weather conditions have been good, the crops, except where they have been neglected are declared to be in the best condition for the past ten years.

According to this same authority, Mississippi this year will produce 78,000,000 bushels of corn, an achievement which a decade ago would have been regarded as simply impossible. But this is not all. The crop forecast for this State places her wheat yield at 28,000 bushels, which is more than double that of last year; her oat crop at 3,770,000, an increase of 100,000 bushels over last year. Sweet potatoes show an increase of 1,370,000, peaches an increase of 60,000, while the hay crop is decidedly better than it was at this time last year.

Taken as a whole the indications point to the best crop year in the history of the State, and if the same conditions prevail, the prices will also be increased over what they have been for several years past, indicating that prosperity is preparing to smile upon the grand old State of Mississippi as it never did before.

Aren't you proud of the best State in the best country under the sun?—Clarion-Ledger.
